RULES SUSPENDED .- The barber's union, of Salem, has not yet"busted." At a recent meeting, of Salem's tonsorial artists, it was agreed to suspend the rules indefinitely that the barbers might find out what benefit, if on the morning local. any, was to be realized under the suspension of the rules. While affairs remain as they are, the barbers can shave for 10 cents and cut hair for 15 cents without being subject to a fine, but so far none have resumed the old rates. However several of the shops were open on Sunday. It is hoped the organization may remain intact, for if any laborer needs rest it is the barber. He is too much a slave, of the public, at best. It is possible the rules may again be adopted.

BROKE A FINGER - While in Gervais Sunday morning, Walter Drennan, fireman on the Salem local, had the misfortune to break the second finger on his right hand in two places. It is very evident that in Mr. Drennan's case afflictions do not come singly. It was only a few weeks since that the house in which Mr. Drennan and family reside, caught fire during nearly all the household effects were destroyed or ruined.

REGAINING HER HEALTH.-The many friends of Miss Olive Gwynne, who is now residing in Great Falls, Montana, will be pleased to learn that she is regaining her health. A few of San Francisco, spent Sunday in months ago Rev. and Mrs. F. H. Gwynne and family removed from Salem to Great Falls, hoping that the morning, from a brief visit up the change of climate might prove beneficial to their youngest daughter, Miss Olive, who had not enjoyed the best ing, from an over Sunday visit at of health, while in Salem. It is hoped Albany. the improvement in Miss Olive's health may prove permanent.

FALSE REPORT.-The report was circulated through the crowd at the circus Saturday night that one of the handsome horses had been accidentally returned Sunday. killed while being loaded onto the car and that his carcass was fed to the lions. Inquiry failed to conform the report which was undoubtedly unfounded.
